BEST FERTILIZING PLANT FOR MISSOURI IS COWPEA

The best fertilizing plant for Missouri is the cowpea, according to S. M. Jordan, who is traveling with the Burlington special from the college of agriculture of the University of Missouri, and was in Maryville Wednesday afternoon with the train.

"These may be sown in the corn when the crop is laid by," Mr. Jordan says. "Or they may be sown along with the corn with a cowpea attachment to the planter. This method is perhaps the surest in getting a crop. The best way to plant them between the rows of corn at laying-by time is with a one-horse grain drill. The corn will best be laid by a little earlier in order to give the peas a start. If the soil is rather rich, about three rows should be sufficient, but if poor there should be about five rows of peas between the corn rows. This will perhaps make somewhat smaller yield of corn that season, but a wonderful amount of fertility will be added to the soil.

"The peas in the corn will be ready to harvest about the first of September, and the best way to harvest them is with lambs. The lambs will not molest the corn at all, except the lower blades. They will eat the peas and weeds, clean up the field and add fertility to the soil at the same time. If one does not have lambs or sheep, the next best thing is to pasture the peas with small shoats. While there are peas in a reasonable quantity they will not molest the corn. The best way to go on building up the land is to allow the hogs or other stock to gather the remainder of the crop. When corn is being eaten down by the hogs, it is not the thing to do to pasture a large portion at one time; fence in a small tract at a time. When the fat stock has been sent to market the stockers may be turned in to clean up the field."

C. G. McMillen of Pickering was in Maryville Wednesday evening and delivered a check for $2,000 to Mrs. W. A. GOT SUNDAY PAPER SATURDAY MORNING

"Talk about western push," said Charles Parcher yesterday, "why, out no farther than Superior, Neb., they are a full day ahead of time."

Mr. Parcher, you know, returned last Saturday night from a big trip through the west, and he is so enthusiastic about it all that he can't talk about anything else.

"Yes, sir, when our train rolled into Superior last Saturday morning I was awakened by newsboys calling out their Sunday St. Louis Post-Dispatch. I rather though I had slept over time, but I found out it was a regular thing out there to get the first edition of the Sunday Post-Dispatch on Saturday, followed by a later edition of Sunday's paper. There was only a small portion of the Sunday Post-Dispatch for me to see when I was ready for my Sunday paper in Maryville. But that's the way everything is in the west for you."

Mr. Parcher had a very pleasant time and met many people formerly of this city, and all are prosperous. In Los Angeles he saw the Rowleys, and also visited Edgar T. Albert, the brother of Mrs. S. R. Rowley and Miss Ada Albert of this city, who is tariff rate manager of the electric railway of Los Angeles, and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Condon, Mr. Condon being employed on the Los Angeles Times. At Fresno he met J. G. Anderson, who bought the Wabash right of way into Maryville. He is a real estate dealer there, and was introduced to Mr. Parcher by Wes Bales, who is also in the real estate business there, and says he would not thing of leaving that country. At San Francisco he met Miss Marion Huff, who has been resting there for several months, but will return to her school work in the Philippines, in the Pan Panga province, sailing the 5th of May. In Seattle he visited Judge Edwin Vinsonhaler, William M. Howell and Elihu Jones. In Tacoma Misses Carrie and Ruby Gaunt, at the home of their sister, Mrs. Fred Miller. Martin Kroetch at Spokane, Miss Mary Lucy Davis in Portland, W. A. Daggett at Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, Harry Bailey at Hood River, Ore., and Fred Bailey in Portland.

Mr. Parcher thinks there is no section of the country that brings such large returns for energetic effort as the great northwest country.

COULTER ACQUITTED OF PERJURY CHARGE

The following from today's Gazette is in regard to the Erasmus Coulter case of Elmo in the federal court at St. Joseph:

That statements relative to an automobile made by Erasmus Coulter, in his hearing before Benjamin J. Woodson, referee in bankruptcy, did not constitute perjury, was the finding of a jury yesterday in the federal court.

Coulter, according to the government, had an automobile which he did not include in his assets, and which he denied was his property. He was arrested on the charge of perjury. The case occupied a day and a half and he was fully sustained.

LIKE THE SUGGESTION MADE BY BUSINESS MEN

Editor Democrat-Forum: I rather like the suggestion made by one of Maryville's wideawake business men as to the proper method of making nominations for the various elective positions in our city government, namely: That it be done by a non-partisan committee, named by the Commercial club. Why not? Can any man give a valid reason why this would not be a proper thing for the Commercial club to do? Is not the management of the affairs of our city purely a matter of business? Here is service. Here is no place for the methods of political parties. The various offices of the city government should not be held by men because they belong to a certain political party, or church, but solely because of their ability to properly do the work required. What organization have we that is more vitally connected with and concerned in the management of the affairs of our city than the Commercial club? In so doing the club will not in any sense turn aside from the legitimate scope of its work, but will do a most valuable service for our city of a business sort, and put the management of our city on a business basis. Again we ask, what valid objection can be urged against the proposition? C. H. JOHN.

A BUILDING BOOM GOING ON AT HOPKINS

(Hopkins Journal.)

Hopkins is on the verge of a big building boom, and if some one will get enthused over building some new cottages all will be lovely.

Work has begun on the Mahan building, just south of the Journal office. It is to be a brick, 20x30, one story, and will be occupied by either Mr. Mahan as a barber shop or by Dr. C. W. Kirk as an office.

Hedinger & Jeffers have given the contract for a one-story cement block building on the lots formerly occupied by the old Linville hotel building. This building will be 32x100 feet and with the exception of one room cut off for the Chambers barber shop the building will be used by these men as an automobile garage.

Dr. S. D. Large will put in a two-story brick on the lot now occupied by the Wheeler butcher shop, the room to be 20x100 feet.

Machinery is now running full blast making the cement blocks to be used in these buildings. A mixer propelled by a gasoline engine is on the ground, and all other machinery necessary to do quick work. Mat Remmington is superintending this branch of the job.

George Bowman expects to replace his frame building with a new brick, and Dr. Sargent is thinking strongly of putting in new buildings on the lots occupied by the old Sheley & Evans implement sheds on Third street.

Al Kysar, the grocer, has bought the McIntyre lot next to Jake Louden on Third street, and will likely build in the near future, so those who imagine that Hopkins is not on the map in bold face letters have another guess coming. Watch'er grow.

TO SUPREME BENCH

O. G. ELLIS, A FORMER RESIDENT, NOW A SUPREME JUDGE.

STATE OF WASHINGTON

Was Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Here and Was Born Near Barnard.

Overton Gentry Ellis of Tacoma, Wash., a former Nodaway county young man and son of the late Dr. T. C. Ellis of Barnard, has been appointed to the supreme bench of the state of Washington by Governor Hay of that state. The appointment was made February 28, and was accepted by the now Judge Ellis.

Judge Ellis is a cousin of Albert E. Bell of Maryville, and a nephew of Dr. Charles Ellis of Denver, Col., formerly of Maryville.

He was assistant to Judge W. C. Ellison during his term as prosecuting attorney of Nodaway county, and in speaking of the new supreme judge Thursday Judge Ellison said: "I never knew a cleaner young man." Judge Ellison visited him at his home in Tacoma a ef wyears ago, and, of course, is very proud of the high honor that has been bestowed on his former associate.

Judge Ellis is a few months past 50 years of age. He was born on the Ellis homestead farm, three miles west of Barnard, October 26, 1860. He attended the public schools of Barnard during his boyhood. In 1879 he entered the academic department of the University of Missouri, graduating in 1883. He then entered the law school, and in 1886 was admitted to the bar in Nodaway county.

In 1887 he went to Kansas City and was for six years principally in the employ of the Lombard Investment company as attorney. Shortly after that concern went into the hands of a receiver, about 1892, Judge Ellis went to Tacoma, where his time was taken up for several years as attorney and receiver's agent for the defunct Lombard company in Washington, Oregon and Idaho, where the company had been heavily interested in northwestern securities and properties.

In 1901 Judge Ellis became a partner with John D. Fletcher of Tacoma in the practice of law, and in 1907 Robert E. Evans was added to firm, which is styled Ellis, Fletcher & Evans. He was made city attorney for Tamoca during 1906-7, and was chairman of the committee of fifty freeholders which framed the present commission form charter under which the city of Tacoma is now governed.

Judge Ellis has always been a staunch Democrat and has often been mentioned as congressional or senatorial timber, but always preferred to devote his energies to the law business, his practice being confined entirely to civil cases.

Judge Ellis was married in 1[illegible] to Miss Jennie Wilhite of Kansas City, a woman of unusual mental endowments, who has for years been a leader in club affairs of Tacoma, especially in the late successful pure food campaign. They have two children.

The appointment of Judge Ellis gives Tacoma two men on the state supreme court bench, the other being Judge Emmet N. Parker, a Republican, who was elected to his office, and there it but one other Democrat on the state supreme bench, Judge Stephen J. Chadwick.

Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Callahan of Arkoe were in the city Thursday.

Harness That is Made Right

THE kind that stands the strain of hard work; the kind that's ready to put onto big draft horses that go into the farm work in the spring and pull like a 40-horse-power engine all the time---that's the kind of harness we have to offer the farmers of Nodaway county now---it's the satisfaction kind.

They are Priced Right

Whate'er you dream with doubt possest,
Keep, keep it snug within your breast,
And lay you down and take your rest;
Forget in sleep the doubt and pain,
And when you wake, to work again.

And where and whither, no one knows.

'Twill all be well; no need of care;
Though how it will, and when, and where,
We cannot see, and can't declare.
In spite of dreams, in spite of thought,
'Tis not in vain, and not for naught,
The wind it blows, the ship it goes,
Though where and whither, no one knows.

TROOPS NOW ON WAY TO TEXAS

Department Gratified by Celerity of the Movement.

SHAKEUP IN MEXICO PROBABLE

Rumor of Reorganization of Diaz Cabinet Is Followed by a Statement From Embassy That Intervention Talk Is Ridiculous.

Washington, March 9.—Telegrams are pouring into the headquarters of the army showing that the movement of troops to the southern frontier of the country is proceeding with the smoothness and regularity of clockwork.

More than one hundred telegrams already have been received and the celerity with which the orders have been carried out, it is said in military quarters, would give the impression that the movement was an everyday occurrence.

Practically the entire force of 20,000 men is now en route to the lower part of Texas and California.

The troops are equipped with ball cartridges, although it is the invariable practice to supply troops with blank ammunition for practice exercises or peaceful maneuvers. Notwithstanding this, however, official Washington still maintains that the movement is merely a plan of practice to determine the efficiency of the fighting arms of the country in mobilizing on short notice.

While this is held to be true, technically, the general impression prevails that the sudden and extensive military activity has a vital and direct relation to the revolutionary movement in Mexico.

Preparations for Eventualities.

The reticence of officials of the state, war and navy departments is accentuating this impression. The idea, which is generally accepted even in the face of official pronouncement that no significance should be attached to the movement, is that the government of the United States is preparing for an eventuality that may develop with the progress of the revolt against President Diaz.

The navy department continued its preparations for the dispatch of the Fifth division of the Atlantic fleet and the large detachment of marines at Guantanamo, Cuba.

The four armored cruisers of the Fifth division, under Rear Admiral Staunton, are being supplied with their full complement of bluejackets. There were some vacancies in the personnel of the division when the orders were issued to the vessels forty-eight hours ago. These are being filled promptly from the enlisted force of the navy.

Mexican Cabinet Will Be Reorganized.

Persistent reports have reached this city that a change in the cabinet of President Diaz soon will be made and the state department also has been informed unofficially. In these changes the American government is keenly interested.

Apart from any moral effect on the treatment accorded American interests in the present disorders, it is suggested that the military demonstration of the United States, whether so intended or not, may have a potential influence on the political crisis in Mexico City. Senor Limantour, Mexican minister of finance, who is now in New York, is slated for the post of minister of foreign affairs.

The Mexican embassy issued a statement branding as preposterous reports current that the Mexican government was looking to the United States for aid in regulating its internal affairs.

Kansas City, March 9.—At a convention of Episcopal churchmen and laymen here, Bishop Sydney C. Partridge of Japan was elected bishop of the diocese of Kansas City, to succeed the late Bishop Edward R. Atwill. Bishop Cameron Mann of the diocese of South Dakota received the next largest vote.

From the first Bishop Partridge was in the lead. On the seventh ballot his election was made unanimous. Bishop Partridge is a brother of William Ordway Partridge, sculptor and author. He was born in New York city in 1857. He took his bachelor's degree at Yale in 1880 and subsequently studied at the Berkeley divinity school, being graduated from that institution in 1884. In 1885 he was ordained a minister and went to Shanghai as a missionary. Since that date he has spent most of his time in the Orient. In 1900 he was consecrated bishop of Kyoto, Japan.

WITNESS TELLS OF NIGHT RIDERS

Death Penalty for Members Who Betray Secrets.

Hopkinsville, Ky., March 9.—Alleged secrets of the night rider organization which operated in the "black patch," or western Kentucky tobacco war in 1907, were laid bare in the testimony of Milton Oliver.

Oliver was the star witness for the commonwealth in the trial of Dr. David Amos, physician and alleged "general" of the night rider army which stormed Hopkinsville in 1908 and destroyed a half million dollars' worth of property.

In his recital in court Oliver told of attending meetings in Caldwell and Trigg counties, where Amos instructed him and others how to force men to join the farmers' association. He said Amos led the band to Hopkinsville after the night riders had mobilized at Wallonia. He named Guy Gunning and C. B. Malone as lieutenants of the "silent brigade" and said John Robinson, Irving Glass and Newton Nichols were in the clan. All of these men are under indictment. He detailed the burning of the warehouses and intimidating the citizens on the night of the raid.

On cross-examination he admitted having sworn in the federal court at Paducah that he was not a night rider and also that he signed an affidavit repudiating a confession made before the Christian county grand jury. In both instances Oliver asserted he swore falsely, fearing vengeance of the night riders, whose obligation, he said, provided a death penalty for betrayal of secrets.

FREE LECTURES OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

EXPERTS FROM COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE TO TALK ON FARMING, IN THE COURT HOUSE 7:30 P. M. THURSDAY, MARCH 23rd

Josephine, the World's Champion Cow, to be Exhibited Free on Special Wabash Train

EVERYBODY SHOULD ATTEND

An event of unusual interest, not only to the farmers of our county but to the people generally, are the coming lectures by the experts of the College of Agriculture, University of Missouri, and of the State Board of Agriculture.

The Democrat-Forum is informed that the Wabash special train, carrying the experts and their exhibits, will arrive at Maryville at 7:00 P. M. Thursday, March 23. The lectures will be delivered in the Court House, and everybody is cordially invited to attend.

The lectures will include such interesting subjects as "Better Farm Methods," "Modern Dairying," "Spraying," "Horticultural Work," "Soil Improvement," "Better Live Stock," etc.—every subject of great interest.

An especially attractive feature of the exhibits carried on the special train will be "Missouri Chief Josephine," the world's champion cow, which, as some of us know, was born and raised on the Missouri Agricultural Farm. She offers wonderful evidence of the real dollars and cents value of farm methods as practiced at the College of Agriculture, and about which we are to hear at the lectures. There will also be shown some other thoroughbred stock owned by the College of Agriculture. This is some of the best stock ever produced in Missouri, or any other state, and will undoubtedly be interesting to see.

The Democrat-Forum sincerely believes that these lectures will be of great interest and real practical help to everyone who hears them.

As to Hopes and Ideals.

Mankind always needs ideals which loom so large in the sight of men that they cannot fail to see them clearly. More than ever is this true of today, for the turmoil and the hurry of modern life raise a great dust which oftentimes hides the skies. Enthusiasm dreams, hopes are to be encouraged, and belong to youth, which ever renews itself in warm hearts, although reason is needed to cool and guide them. The fact that we believe that our ideal is beautiful and holy is not ground for forcing it on our mates. To win success a man must not be a pure idealist, else in practical things he will fail; but he must have ideals, and he must obey them.—Henry L. Higginson in the Atlantic Monthly.

ONE WOMAN.

Since I had heard them speak of her great shame,
I looked upon her face with curious eyes,
But pity in my heart became surprise—
Finding not any havoc there, or flame;

Only a little smile that went and came,
As if she knew a mirth too great and wise,
And far too proud to serve the world with lies,
Disdaining as she did, its praise or blame.

She who had passed through sin, as through a door,
Stayed not upon the steps to wail and beat
Against the portal closed forevermore,
But smiled, and went her way with tireless feet,
When night had passed and the long day begun—
So Hagar faced the desert with her son.

WHAT, THEN, IS SCIENCE?

(Literary Digest.)

What is scientific method? It has nothing to do, Prof. Charles S. Minot says, with any kind of logic, in spite of the logicians. It is simply the collection and correlation of data to such an extent that they are "impersonally valid"—that is, are true independently of the mind or personality of the investigator. He says:

"The method of science is not special or peculiar to it, but only a perfected application of our human resources of observation and reflection—to use the words of Von Baer, the greatest embryologist. To secure reliability the method of science is, first, to record everything with which it deals, the phenomena themselves and the inferences of the individual investigators, and to record both truly; second, to verify and correlate the personal knowledges until they acquire impersonal validity, which means, in other words, that the conclusions approximate so closely to the absolute truth that we can be safely and profitably guided by them. The method of science is no mystic process. On the contrary, it is as easily comprehended as it is infinitely difficult to use perfectly, and at its best the method supplies merely available approximations to the absolute. We set science upon the throne of imagination, but we have crowned her with modesty, for she is at once the reality of human power and the personification of human fallibility."

Roumania—The crop outlook is satisfactory and field work has been resumed. There is every indication of fair supplies. Hungary—The crop conditions show some improvement under favorable weather conditions. Supplies are small. Italy—The crop outlook is favorable with the weather seasonable. There are good supplies of native wheat. Turkey—The crop outlook shows improvement and is generally favorable.

British Foreign Office Makes Denial

London, March 9.—The foreign office authorized the announcement that no instructions of any kind had been sent to Ambassador Bryce at Washington from London in regard to the events in Mexico. The mobilization of an American army at the Mexican frontier has excited great interest among London politicians and in commercial circles, but all are still in the dark as to whether the movement is for political or purely military reasons.
